(Doc. CG 5/94/2.2 and Addendum)

13- The Director General addressed the achievements of the Organization, laying emphasis on the specificity of the programmes implemented in the fields of education, science, culture, international cooperation, documentation and information. He reviewed the contacts he had made with the States which were not yet members of the Organization, and stated that such activities resulted in securing the membership of 4 new States, namely the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina, the Republic of Azerbaijan and the Republic of Tajikistan, raising the membership to 41 Member States.

The official visits paid by the Director General to a number of States led to positive results which were instrumental in consolidating cooperation relations with the Organization in the implementation of programmes, as a large number of programmes of the 1991-1994 Action Plan and the remaining programmes of the 1988-1991 Action Plan had been implemented despite the paucity of the available material resources. Credit for these accomplishments goes to the sound policy adopted by the General Directorate, which is based on rationalizing expenditures, curtailing assignments and associating some beneficiary countries in bearing expenses.

He added that in the educational field, over 60 activities were carried out in such areas as holding training sessions, updating school curricula, publishing books, seconding instructors and granting scholarships, 45 activities were implemented in the scientific field, focusing on modernizing curricula, granting scholarships, and tending to the protection of the environment and the control of desertification.

In the field of Culture and Communication, a substantial number of activities were implemented with respect to safeguarding the cultural identity of the Islamic World. Regional and international meetings were thus held, in cooperation with similar organizations, on the issue of the Cultural Strategy for the Islamic World. Likewise, twenty books were published in their original or translated form in the various areas of Islamic culture. Efforts were also exerted for the preparation of another set of books, specialized Islamic studies and films introducing Member States and highlighting their Islamic civilization, in addition to the symposia and training sessions convened in favour of officials in charge of manuscript centres in the Member States.

In the information field, positive achievements were made as attested by the news on ISESCO's activities at all levels, published or broadcast by the mass media inside and outside the Islamic world, which led to the expansion of the scope of dissemination of the Organization's mission and radiance. Concerning the data bank, which witnessed significant development, the Organization managed to link it with international networks specialized in data exchange.

In keeping with the increasing volume of work, the Organization recruited 27 experts, specialists and professionals.
